

routes et transports

PUBLICATION DE L'ASSOCIATION QUÉBÉCOISE DES TRANSPORTS

Fall Edition
RELEASE DATE OCTOBER 2017

Call for Papers

The future of transportation will be electric, autonomous and shared! The idea is becoming widely accepted by industry experts, thus inspiring the main topic of the fall edition of our magazine. Transitioning towards new types of mobility and the autonomization of vehicles creates a lot of expectations, as well as challenges to overcome.

Articles wanted

Do you have a project to present, specialized knowledge or an opinion to share related to this topic? Let us know!

Send us an abstract of 150 words presenting your topic to the following address: communication@aqtr.com.

Deadline for submitting your abstract: June 19, 2017.

The selection committee will review the proposals and announce their decision by June 30.

If your proposal (article abstract) is selected, you will have until August 8, 2017 to send us the complete article, which should be between 1500 and 2000 words.

Special "Innovation and start-ups" section.

The world is abounding with inventors and entrepreneurs.

Are you developing an electric battery prototype, an effective charging station, an avant-garde car or new bus model? Here's your chance to share your ideas, product, or marketing/financing needs.

Here are some examples of topics for articles in this edition:

- Overview of the situation
- Contributions for developing transit models for people and merchandise
- New mobility
- Planning and infrastructure development
- Employment and economic perspectives
- Changes in the insurance sector
- Safety issues
- Big data
- Social acceptability and ethical considerations
- Legal and regulatory framework
- Public policies
- Technological progress and technologies
- Research
- Etc.

AQTr

L'expertise en transport

1255, boulevard Robert-Bourassa
Bureau 200, Montréal (Québec)
H3B 3B2

For all enquiries:

Lynn Dumont
514.523.6444, ext. 328
communication@AQTr.com

AQTr.com

twitter.com/AQTransports
facebook.com/AQTransports
linkedin.com/company/aqtr